Introduction

Introduction

This survey is designed to supplement a Stanford University research project on predicting the performance of multilateral and bilateral development finance projects.

The survey has two parts:

1. Participant Information
2. Evaluation Questions

This survey should take approximately 15-20 minutes to complete. Your information is confidential in compliance with Stanford IRB requirements.

If you have any additional questions about this survey or the privacy of your information, please reach out to Irmak Ersoz (irmak@stanford.edu).

Evaluation Questions – Introduction

Part 2: Project Evaluation Questions

The following section will provide you with some project and country-level information related to a development project.

You will be asked how you think this project performed on the basis of the information that was provided to you. Please do not conduct outside research on the projects.

Project information used in the research and in this survey was taken from the Project Performance Database 2.0, compiled by Dan Honig.

Country-level governance information was taken from the World Bank's Worldwide Governance Index and Country Policy and Institutional Assessment.

The World Bank's Worldwide Governance Indicators are a set of six metrics that measure the quality of governance across different countries, focusing on aspects like political stability, government effectiveness, regulatory quality, rule of law, control of corruption, and voice and accountability.

The Country Policy and Institutional Assessment (CPIA) is a tool used by the World Bank to evaluate the quality of a country's policies and institutional frameworks, assessing how conducive they are to fostering sustainable growth and poverty reduction.

Please reach out to Irmak Ersöz (irmak@stanford.edu) with any urgent questions related to the survey.
